About Belgrade

This is the story of Belgrade, the dazzling capital of Serbia. People from all over the world are attracted to this city for its charm and beauty. From the quiet cafes, to the sparkling nightlife, Belgrade is a city that never sleeps.

It has magnificent architecture, peaceful parks, splendid restaurants with authentic Balkan food, remarkable art and electrifying museums. A city between East and West, with a turbulent history to tell. But what makes Belgrade the most appealing is the spirit of its people.

Belgrade has the most interesting men and the most enigmatic women. Some of the best sportsmen in the world are from Belgrade. Anyone who experiences this city will undoubtedly fall in love with it. Welcome to Belgrade.

About the film

"Belgrade | With Boris Malagurski" is a documentary film about the spirit of Belgrade, its people and the historical circumstances that shaped Serbia's capital throughout its existence. As a land from which positive news rarely appears in Western media, Serbia has a valuable gem which is yearning to be discovered, waiting for world recognition for its charm and beauty.

The documentary, directed by Boris Malagurski, is currently in pre-production and is scheduled to be filmed on site throughout 2011. The film will be narrated by Malagurski, in English, and aimed at Western audiences, most of which have grown tired of the typical European destinations such as London and Paris, or even Prague and Budapest, and are looking for something fresh new.
